

Pepper Flaming Jade F₁
AAS Edible Regional Winner
Regions: GL, HL

When you need Serrano peppers to help bring the heat to your recipes, look no further than Pepper Flaming Jade F₁, our 2016 AAS Regional Winner for the Heartland and Great Lakes areas. Flaming Jade was praised for its disease resistant, upright habit and uniform plants making it perfect for gardening in larger containers. Each plant is laden with a heavy set of large, long, firm fruit throughout the entire growing season, especially in the cooler climates of North America. Serrano peppers are great in sauces and pico de gallo as they lend an extra kick of heat compared to jalapeno peppers.

AAS® Winner Data

Genus species: Capsicum annuum

Common name: Pepper

Fruit flavor: Typical Serrano flavor

Fruit size: 4 inches x 1 inch

Fruit shape: Cylindrical

Fruit color: Green

Plant color: Green

Plant type: Annual

Plant height: 3 feet

Plant habit: Bushy

Garden location: Full sun

Garden spacing: 1 foot

Length of time to harvest: 105 days from sowing seed, 75 days from transplant

Closest comparisons on market: Cocula F₁, Sureno F₁

ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS

1311 Butterfield Road
Suite 310
Downers Grove, IL
60515

630-963-0770
www.aaswinners.com

Tested Nationally & Proven Locally®

www.aaswinners.com

