

What is All-America Selections?

All-America Selections (AAS) is a non-profit organization that conducts confidential and impartial trials of new, never-before-sold flower and vegetable seed varieties throughout North America.

Each fall, we accept vegetable and flower entries that have not yet been introduced to the market. Then, entries are trialed in more than 50 locations throughout the U.S. and Canada. Currently available comparison varieties are grown side-by-side with the entries for a one-to-one comparison of garden performance, earliness, flower or fruit size or any other characteristic important to the home gardener.

Our 65+ Trial Judges are horticulture professionals at universities, public gardens, extension offices, seed companies, breeding companies, retailers and commercial growers.

Only the best trial performers, that are superior to their comparisons, are declared AAS Winners.

When you purchase an AAS Winner, be assured that you have selected a variety that has been put through its paces and has outperformed other similar varieties on the market. Look for this icon anywhere you buy plants to be assured you are getting a plant that has truly been trialed for garden performance:
